Canadian Lightweights

In a class of just three contestants, it was left to Edmonton local Petra Lemke to snatch the Canadian title for the province of Alberta. A veteran competitor, 36-year-old Lemke was the Alberta Provincial LW champion in 2000. The LW victory was a sweet one for the 5-2 Lemke as the former cross country skier and cross country runner finally earned the national lightweight crown after finishing third at two previous Canadian Nationals in 2001 and 2002.

Runner-up Carmen Tocheniuk of Whitecourt, Alberta, showed a remarkably delicate muscularity with just 109 pounds on her 5-3 frame. As many in attendance noted with regard to Tocheniuk's looks, she bore a striking resemblance to supermodel Cheryl Tiegs in her younger years.
